

Monopoly power is a dangerous thing, and Congress is supposed to guard against it. But the upcoming rule change could change the landscape for all media and usher in an era in which a few corporations control our access to news and entertainment. I support a diverse, competitive media landscape and strongly oppose the new deregulations of media ownership.